From The Principal

Hi Everyone!

Hospital visit

On Monday our junior classroom headed to the Dimboola nursing home. During class our students made special personalised Easter cards for each of the residents. While the students were there, they delivered their cards to the residents, played Easter bingo and made Easter biscuits with the residents. By the looks of the photos everyone had a fabulous time. It's so special seeing our students building relationships with the people in our community.

Harmony Day

Yesterday was Harmony Day. It was so great to see so many students dressed in orange. Students have been learning about the meaning behind Harmony Day and the importance to be expecting of different cultures and different people. Students also participated in a range of Harmony Day activities which can be seen on our Facebook page.

Miss Ross.

Next week is Miss. Ross's last week with us, she will finish up with us next Thursday. Holly has been a valued member of our school, and we've appreciated her commitment to our school. We are currently in the process of finding a suitable replacement for Holly and will let our school community know once this is finalised.

Last day of Term 1

I'm not too sure where this term has gone and it's crazy to think that this time next week we will be in holidays. Next Thursday 28th March is the last day of Term one. We will be finishing at 2:20pm to align with the school buses. Also, next Thursday, students can dress up as what they'd like to be when they're older. Students are asked to bring a gold coin donation for the Good Friday Appeal.

Important Email

Today an important email was sent out to our families around exciting changes that will be happening in our school in 2025. Please read your emails to gain more information and feel free to contact me if you have any questions or concerns.

Have a fabulous weekend,

Millie Dent.

Devotional Thoughts

The light of the kingdom of God - By Kathy Matuschka

After this, Jesus travelled about from one town and village to another, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom of God (Luke 8:1a).

Read Luke 8:1–15

I love how often we hear announcements in the gospel books that the kingdom of God (or the kingdom of heaven) has come near.

If Jesus' individual miracles shine like the stars, these expansive statements can shine like the moon into our darkness.

At one level, it seems to me that the 'kingdom of God' is hard to define because it means nothing and everything about Jesus' earthly ministry and God's plan of salvation for humankind. Sometimes, as Christians, our ideas of how the kingdom of God should look can even divide us.

It's like a mountain that looks a little different from various angles, and it's hard to grasp or define its exact shape. But every story of healing – every teaching – helps us build a picture of what the 'kingdom of God' looks like.

So, too, as Christians today, we long to see God's kingdom come in our world. As we witness wars and other conflicts, family trauma, natural disasters and general needs, the darkness threatens to be overwhelming.

But now, as always, God's kingdom is revealed one story, one interaction at a time. Even when it seems dark, we can have the confidence to walk the way God leads. We can trust that God has many ways to orchestrate healing and restoration in our world and that God's Spirit enables us each to play our part.

Like the sower in today's reading, we can sow generously and accept our failures hopefully. Like Jesus' followers in today's reading, we have no light of our own. We stay close to Jesus so we can reflect his light as we go.

Dear God, please reveal the good news of your kingdom within me and around me. Shine your light on my path so I can confidently step into the part you have for me. In Jesus' name, Amen.
